

Spring-Summer Collection 2007

“Sport Design”

High performance and aesthetic appeal for the Zegna man

The Zegna Sport Collection for Spring-Summer 2007 marries the essence of quality with technical design. It's what a man who's sporty, sophisticated, elegant and demanding wants to wear when at last he can dedicate precious time to himself. The Zegna Sport Collection addresses a man who appreciates a garment's design and performance and the appeal of the outdoor sports.

Themes

Tennis - This exclusive world is full of genuinely classic details: layering of garments V-neck pullover and polo shirt, for instance - is re-invented here in a white collar that seems to emerge from under the army-cut neck of a cotton sweater. Polo shirts make a strong style statement: classic or renewed with contrasting inserts. Jackets are highly functional, whether nylon fold away or two-tone cotton and nylon reversible. The trousers are shorts with a drawstring, and made of technical fabrics.

Golf - The functional wind sweater is an exercise in style indispensable in the world of golf, here made of water repellent knit cotton yarn with a breathable inner mesh and chrome-plated zips. It can be worn over a striped polo shirt with a contrasting collar, a tribute to the season's most practical garment and present across the entire collection in an infinite array of colors and finishes.

Regata - Technical and appealing - Giving comfort even in the worst weather conditions are the minimum requirements for sailing outerwear. Here we have some Zegna Sport classics updated for the season: “Equator Jacket” and “Ocean jacket. Fleeces and pullovers are decorated with emblems and details in flashes of color.

Originated in 1999, Zegna Sport embodies Ermenegildo Zegna elegance in the “active” world and is sensitive to its particular technical performance requirements. Ongoing research and development makes fabrics, details, and features increasingly effective for their specific sports. Zegna Sport never loses sight of the exciting pleasures of competitive sports or participating as active spectator.
